FACULTY BACKGROUND

Universiti Malaysia Sarawak (UNIMAS) was officially established on 24 December 1992. At that time, what is now FELC began as the Centre for Language Studies (CLS), which was founded on 1 December 1993. CLS played a vital role in strengthening the language proficiency of both students and staff, offering courses in Malay, English, and various third languages.

As UNIMAS grew, CLS expanded its scope and was upgraded to the Faculty of Language Studies and Communication Studies (FLSCS) in January 2016. It was later renamed the Faculty of Language and Communication (FLC) in July 2017. Most recently, in line with current educational needs and developments, the faculty was rebranded in September 2023 as the Faculty of Education, Language and Communication (FELC).

Today, FELC offers four full-time undergraduate programmes:

1. Bachelor of Arts in Linguistics with Honours

- First intake: Session 2014/2015

2. Bachelor of Communication (Strategic Communication) with Honours

- First intake: Session 2018/2019

3. Bachelor of Arts in English for Global Communication with Honours

- First intake: Session 2019/2020

4. Bachelor of Islamic Education with Honours

- Transferred from the Faculty of Cognitive Sciences and Human Development (second intake offered in 2023)

Through these programmes, FELC continues its mission of producing graduates who are well-equipped with knowledge, skills, and values in education, language, and communication; preparing them not only for the demands of today but also for the opportunities of tomorrow.

FELC.

VISION

Leading excellence in education, language and communication

MISSION

Advancing knowledge and skills in education, language and communication through scholarly activities that contribute towards sustainable community development

DEAN'S FOREWORD

Dear students,

I warmly welcome you to the Faculty of Education, Language and Communication (FELC), Universiti Malaysia Sarawak. Your presence here marks the beginning of a meaningful journey that will shape you as knowledgeable, ethical and competitive graduates.

At FELC, we are committed to delivering quality education founded on values of trust, integrity and excellence. Our lecturers and staff stand ready to guide and support you in achieving success in education, language and communication.

We continue to strengthen our academic profile with new programmes such as the Bachelor of Education (TESOL), the Bachelor of Education (Iban Language) and the Postgraduate Diploma in Education (PGDE), ensuring that FELC remains relevant and innovative.

Make full use of your time here to gain knowledge, build character and develop leadership skills. For those from outside Sarawak, embrace the diversity of the Land of the Hornbills as part of your enriching experience.

I wish you every success in your studies. Welcome to the FELC family, where bright futures begin.

Welcome aboard to FELC!

CORE COURSES

Core courses in undergraduate programmes are specially designed for each programme. The courses are made up of coherent courses with a wide overview to enable students to gain in-depth knowledge of their field. The total number of credits is subject to the requirements of the respective programmes.

The Core Courses at FELC include the following:

- i. Programme Core Courses
- ii. Industrial Training/Teaching Practicum
- iii. Final Year Project

SPECIALISATION COURSES

Specialisation courses are compulsory for all students registered in a particular programme. These courses are designed to enhance students' knowledge in their respective areas of study. For further details on these specialisation courses, refer to the information provided for each programme.

DURATION OF STUDY

Code	Programme	Duration of Study		Credit Hours
		Minimum	Maximum

THE SEMESTER SYSTEM AND MODULAR COURSES

The academic structure at UNIMAS is semester-based with modular courses. Each academic year is divided into two semesters, as follows:

Semester 1	14 weeks
Semester 2	14 weeks
Inter-session	8 weeks (optional)

COURSE REGISTRATION

1. Students MUST register for each course they intend to take.
2. The course registration can be done online, through the Course Registration Module at <https://smpweb.unimas.my/CourseRegistration/Login.jsp>
3. It is students' sole responsibility to register for all courses at each semester according to the specified period.
4. Students are also fully responsible to ensure that all registered courses are accurate and to print the temporary registration slip for safe keeping.
5. Only courses that are offered in a particular semester can be registered for that semester.
6. For further information, refer to The University Academic Calendar for registration information and the Undergraduate Academic Regulations Guidebook 2021/2022 <https://www.bpps.unimas.my/academic-rules-and-regulations>

CREDIT HOURS

Total credits allowed for registration per semester
Students are allowed to register between 8 to 20 credits for each semester	Normal
Students with CGPA 2.50 and below are only allowed to register with a maximum of 15 credits.	CGPA $\leq$ 2.50
The maximum credits for Conditional Pass (LB) students is 12 credits.	LB – Conditional Pass

What if I require a higher number of credits than allowed?

Application for out of range registration shall obtain the Dean's approval (InAFS System <https://inafs.aa.unimas.my> )

STUDENT ATTENDANCE FOR LECTURES

Students' attendance at lectures sessions is important at FELC. Students with less than 80% attendance will not be allowed to sit for the final exams unless they have reasonable grounds for their absence, subject to the FELC Academic Committee's decision.

ACADEMIC ETHICS

Students who are convicted of any offence by the University Student Disciplinary Committee may be punished based on the University and University College (AUKU) Act 1971 (Amendment 2012) and the rules of Universiti Malaysia Sarawak (Student Disciplinary Discipline) 1999 (Senate Amendment No.1/2015 138). Students convicted of any disciplinary offences are not eligible for the Dean's List for the affected semester even though they have fulfilled the terms.

LINGUISTICS

Background

The Bachelor of Arts in Linguistics with Honours programme at the Faculty of Education, Language and Communication is a distinguished three-year academic curriculum focusing on linguistic theories, Borneo languages, literature, media, and culture. Established in the 2014/2015 academic session, the programme aims to equip graduates with extensive knowledge of communication skills and analytical abilities while navigating social and cultural contexts. It integrates linguistic exploration through research and critical thinking, fostering cognitive, digital, and leadership skills aligned with current societal trends.

Programme Educational Objectives

The Bachelor of Arts in Linguistics with Honours aims to produce graduates who are:

1. Knowledgeable in the field of linguistics and able to demonstrate cognitive and practical skills in language-related activities.
2. Proficient in communication, capable of leading and taking responsibility in team tasks, and able to contribute to the community.
3. Skilled in information management, practising ethics and professionalism, and applying entrepreneurial knowledge in lifelong learning.

Programme Learning Outcomes

1. Apply holistic and comprehensive knowledge and understanding of linguistic aspects and language.
2. Present cognitive skills in various language environments.
3. Demonstrate practical skills in various language-related activities.
4. Practice interpersonal skills in group work.
5. Display communication skills in handling and professionally shouldering social responsibilities in various contexts.
6. Exhibit digital skills in handling information comprehensively.
7. Master numeracy skills in the field of linguistic research.
8. Demonstrate leadership, autonomy, and responsibility skills in teamwork.
9. Cultivate lifelong learning to enhance personal skills.

Final Year Project

One of the major components of the programme is the compulsory Final Year Project for all students. A total of six (6) credits is allocated to this course, which is divided into Final Year Project 1 and Final Year Project 2, conducted over two (2) semesters. This course is offered in the third year of study, specifically during the fifth and sixth semesters.

The primary objective of the Final Year Project is to provide students with practical research experience in linguistic aspects. Each student will be assigned a supervisor to ensure that the research aligns with the course's objectives. The outcome of the research is assessed through oral presentations and scholarly writing.

Through this project, students will have the opportunities to enhance their analytical, communicative, and problem-solving skills as they apply the knowledge accumulated throughout their studies to identify problems or authentic issues within the field of linguistics.

Industrial Training

Another major component of this programme is the PBP2046 Industrial Training, which is compulsory for all students. A total of six (6) credits are allocated to this course, and students are required to undergo at least 12 weeks of industrial training at private companies or government agencies. The industrial training will take place during the inter-session period of Year 2 of the programme.

The primary purpose of this training is to provide students with early exposure to the practical application of advanced linguistic knowledge within industry settings. Throughout the training, students are required to prepare an industrial training report. Both students and prospective host organisations will be provided with guidelines to facilitate the process. While students are responsible for identifying an organisation or company suitable for their training, they must first obtain approval from the faculty. Students are encouraged to propose or identify an appropriate organisation or company during Year 2, Semester 2.

Assessment will be based on several criteria, including attendance at the workplace, discipline, communication skills, ability to work collaboratively in groups, and their capacity to identify problems or issues faced by the organisation, along with suggestions for solving these problems and improving organisational performance where applicable.

This industrial training aims to develop students' analytical and communication skills, enhance their ability to work effectively in groups, and enable them to apply their accumulated knowledge to address real-world linguistic issues. Additionally, the training will improve students' teamwork skills and proficiency in using ICT for tasks related to the field of linguistics.

Final Year Project

The Final Year Project is another major component in the programme, compulsory for all students. A total of seven (7) credits is allocated for this course and students are required to complete PBF 3133 Final Year Project I and PBF 4144 Final Year Project II for two (2) semesters. This course is offered in the third and fourth year of study, i.e., during the sixth (6) and seventh (7) semesters. The purpose of this final year project is to provide students with the experience of conducting independent research on issues related to media and communication.

At the end of the project, students are required to produce an undergraduate thesis. Each final year student will be assigned a supervisor. The supervisor will ensure that the research is relevant to the objectives of the course. Students will be evaluated based on oral presentations and the submitted undergraduate thesis.

By completing the Final Year Project, students would be able to develop analytical and communicative skills and apply the knowledge that they have learnt to identify problems or issues in the areas of media and communication to propose practical recommendations.

Industrial Training

One major component of the programme is PBF 4156 Industrial Training, which is compulsory for all students. A total of 6 credits is allocated to this course and all students are required to undergo Industrial Training for a period of 12 weeks at private companies or government agencies. Industrial training will be carried out at the final semester of the programme.

The purpose of this training is to provide students with the experience, understanding and exposure to the working environment through professional guidance and advice from the industry. It would provide students with the opportunity to apply the knowledge and skills learnt from the various courses in the programme. While students are responsible for identifying an organisation/company, they must obtain the faculty's approval via the Programme Coordinator. All students are required to propose or identify the organisation/company appropriate to their programme in Year 4 Semester 1. Both students and prospective companies or organisations will be provided with guidelines on Industrial Training.

At the end of the industrial training, students are required to prepare an industrial training report. Students will be assessed based on their attendance at the workplace, level of discipline at work, the ability to communicate and work in groups, and their capacity to identify problems and issues faced by the company or the organisation if applicable, as well as suggestions on solving problems and improving the performance of the company or organisation if given the opportunity. Through the industrial training experience, students are expected to develop analytical and communicative skills, as well as professionalism and ethics that would prepare them for the working world.

ENGLISH FOR GLOBAL COMMUNICATION

Bachelor of Arts in English for Global Communication with Honours

Background

English is a language widely used for global communication in the fields of international trade and business, research, technology, and industry. The ability to communicate effectively in English enables one to connect with and participate actively in the international community as a global citizen.

The Bachelor of Arts in English for Global Communication with Honours is a four-year degree programme. This programme equips prospective students with the knowledge, competence, and awareness to use English as an important tool of communication in a globalised world. The main medium of instruction for this programme is English.

Programme Educational Objectives

The Bachelor of Arts in English for Global Communication with Honours has set goals in producing graduates who:

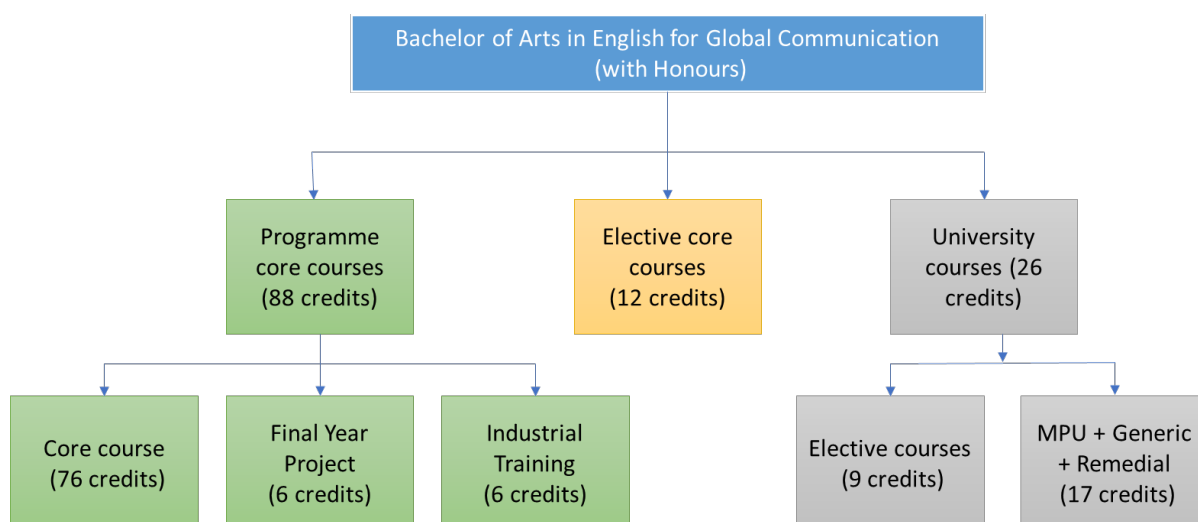

1. Knowledgeable and proficient in English language and able to apply that knowledge for various communicative needs in local and global situations.
2. Able to demonstrate quality leadership, group skills and professionalism in addressing current complex challenges and seek solutions to real-world issues related to language and communication.
3. Ethical and credible in performing academic, social, and professional roles and responsibilities in English language and global communication.
4. Skilled in entrepreneurship and able to recognise lifelong learning as a necessity for personal and professional development.

Final Year Project

The Final Year Project is another major component in the programme, compulsory for all students. A total of six (6) credits is allocated for this course and students are required to complete Final Year Project 1 and the Final Year Project 2 for two (2) semesters. This course is offered in the third and fourth years of study, i.e., during the sixth (6) and seventh (7) semesters. The purpose of this final year project is to provide students with the experience of conducting independent research on issues related to English language and communication.

At the end of the project, students are required to produce an undergraduate thesis. Each final year student will be assigned a supervisor. The supervisor will ensure that the research is relevant to the objectives of the course. Students will be evaluated based on oral presentations and the submitted undergraduate thesis.

By completing the Final Year Project, students would be able to develop analytical and communicative skills and apply the knowledge they have learnt to identify problems or issues in the areas of English language and communication to propose practical recommendations.

Industrial Training

One major component of the programme is PBW 4306 Internship, which is compulsory for all students. A total of six (6) credits is allocated to this course and all students are required to undergo Internship for a period of 12 weeks at private companies or government agencies. Internship will be carried out at the final semester of the programme.

The purpose of this training is to provide students with the experience, understanding and exposure to the working environment through professional guidance and advice from the industry. It would provide students with the opportunity to apply the knowledge and skills learnt from the various courses in the programme. While students are responsible for identifying an organisation/company, they must obtain the faculty's approval via the Programme Coordinator. All students are required to propose or identify the organisation/company appropriate to their programme in Year 4 Semester 1. Both students and prospective companies or organisations will be provided with guidelines on Internship.

At the end of the Internship, students are required to prepare a report. Students will be assessed based on their attendance at the workplace, level of discipline at work, the ability to communicate and work in groups, and their capacity to identify problems and issues faced by the company or the organisation if applicable, as well as suggestions on solving problems and improving the performance of the company or organisation if given the opportunity. Through the Internship experience, students are expected to develop analytical and communicative skills, as well as professionalism and ethics that would prepare them for the working world.

Final Year Project

The Final Year Project is also a key component of the programme, which is mandatory for all students. A total of 3 credits are allocated for this course, and students are required to complete the Final Year Project in the last semester. This course is offered in the fourth year of study, which is in the eighth (8th) semester of the study session. The purpose of this final year project is to provide students with experience in conducting independent research on issues related to Islamic Education.

At the end of this project, students are required to produce a complete academic paper. Each final-year student will be supervised by a lecturer to ensure that the research conducted aligns with the goals of this course. Students will be assessed on their presentations and the complete academic writing.

The completion of this Final Year Project is expected to produce students who have analytical skills, communication skills, and the ability to apply the knowledge they have learned to identify problems or issues in the field of Education and Islamic Education, enabling them to propose practical solutions.

Teaching Practicum

An essential component of this programme is KMP4058 Teaching Practicum, which is a compulsory course for all students. This practicum carries 8 credits, and students are required to complete an 18-week teaching placement, primarily in schools across Sarawak. The practicum takes place during the final semester of the study programme. Its main objective is to give students hands-on experience in applying their theoretical knowledge within an actual teaching environment over the course of one semester. Each student will be supervised by an appointed lecturer and mentor. During the practicum, students are expected to conduct classroom lessons, participate in co-curricular activities, and engage in all school-organised events.

Course Synopsis

YEAR 1 SEMESTER 1
KMP1013 National Education Philosophy	This course introduces students to the concept of educational philosophy and its critical role in shaping a nation's education system. It emphasises the historical background and evolution of education in Malaysia, from independence to the present day. Through discussions on various issues and challenges, the course explores the core philosophy, policies, and educational objectives of the nation, alongside the pivotal role educators play in realising these aspirations. Furthermore, key events in Malaysia's educational history and their influence on contemporary education development are thoroughly examined.
KMP1023 Society and Culture in Education	This course aims to expose students to the dynamic relationship between society and culture in education. Key topics discussed include the role of schools as social organisations, understanding school cultures and communities, the diversity in cultural and socio-economic structures within society, and how these affect the teaching and learning process in schools. The course also addresses current social changes and their impact on education. Additionally, students will have the opportunity to analyse global perspectives on trends and issues related to the role and influence of society and culture in education, with an emphasis on community issues and cultural diversity in Sarawak.

KMP1033 Arabic Grammar I	This course covers the classification of words: noun (ism), verb (fi'l), and particle (harf). It discusses the subdivisions of nouns and verbs: declinable (al-Mu'rabah) and indeclinable (al-Mabniyyah), along with the markers of declension (alamat al-l'rab). Topics under the nominative nouns (Marfu'at al-Asma') include: the subject (al-Mubtada'), the predicate (al-Khabar), the subject of 'Kana' and its sisters (Ism Kana wa Akhawatuha), the predicate of 'Inna' and its sisters (Khabar Inna wa Akhawatuha), the doer (al-Fa'il), the substitute doer (Na'ib al-Fa'il), and the dependents (al-Tawabi'). The course also examines words according to the morphological scale (al-Mizan al-Sarfiyy), covering proper nouns and non-proper nouns (al-Ism al-Sahih wa ghair al-Sahih al-Akhir), indefinite and definite nouns (al-Nakirah wa al-Ma'rifah), rigid and flexible nouns (al-Jamid wa al-Mutasarriif), as well as singular (Mufrad), dual (Muthanna), and plural (Jama') forms.
YEAR 1 SEMESTER 2
KMP1043 Islamic Education Pedagogy (Secondary School)	This course focuses on the introduction and development of the Islamic Education curriculum, the Islamic Education Curriculum in Malaysia, content analysis, and current issues related to the Islamic Education curriculum. It also covers pedagogy in secondary schools as a guide for future educators.
KMP1053 Principles of Islamic Jurisprudence	This course introduces students to the foundational chapters of Usul Fiqh. It covers various topics, including an introduction to Usul Fiqh: definition, emergence, and historical development. It discusses Islamic law (Hukum Syarak), covering its definition, classifications (taklifi and wad'iy), the legislator (al-Hakim), the object of the ruling (al-mahkum fih), the subject of the ruling (al-mahkum 'alayhi), and legal capacity (al-ahliyah). The course also examines the sources of Sharia law, including the authority of the Quran, the authenticity of its transmission, and the certainty or ambiguity of its verses. It addresses the authority and classification of Hadith based on sanad (chain of transmission) and wurud (narration), as well as its role in interpreting the Quran. Additionally, it discusses the concept and authority of Ijma' (consensus), the authority of Qiyas (analogical reasoning), and the other sources of law that are not unanimously agreed upon.
KMP1063 Introduction to the Study of Hadith and Quran	This course aims to introduce students to the general knowledge of Quranic and Hadith studies. The focus is on the various disciplines essential for understanding the content of the Quran and Hadith. In the field of Quranic studies, topics include the history of Quranic compilation, Al-Muhkam and Al-Mutasyabih (clear and ambiguous verses), Al-Nasikh and Al-Mansukh (abrogated and abrogating verses), the miraculous nature of the Quran (I'jaz Al-Quran), and Quranic stories (Qasas Al-Quran). In Hadith studies, topics include the classification of Hadith, Al-Jarah and Al-Ta'dil (criticism and validation of Hadith transmitters), and the methodology of Hadith authentication (Takhrij al-Hadith). The course also discusses prominent figures in the fields of Quranic and Hadith studies and authoritative reference books in these disciplines.
KMP1073 Arabic Grammar II	This course exposes students to the relationship between words in phrases, clauses, and sentences, as well as the structure and categories of Arabic words, both in theory and practice. Discussions include accusative nouns (Mansubat al-Asma'), such as the predicate of "Kana" and similar verbs, the subject of "Inna" and similar particles, the direct object, absolute object, object for a purpose, object of time and place, accompanying object, the state (al-Hal), and the exception (al-Mustathna'). The course also covers verbs: regular and irregular verbs, transitive and intransitive verbs, simple and augmented nouns, past, present, and imperative verbs, verbs in active and passive voice, the Hamzah, and transformations (al-l'lal wa al-lbdal).
YEAR 2 SEMESTER 1
PBH2013 Cognitive Psychology	This course introduces the study of the mind, cognition, and its processes. These aspects include sensory systems, perception, memory, language acquisition and comprehension, as well as thinking (decision-making and problem-solving). The course explains the brain's role in the mind's operations, the nervous system, and its connection to a) computational models of the brain and mind, and b) elements of social cognition such as self-perception and perception of others and the environment. Both individual and social perspectives on cognition will be discussed in relation to their influence on a person's emotions, attitudes, and behaviour. Through scientific studies of cognition, this course highlights psychology's contribution to the field of Cognitive Science in understanding the human mind.

KMP2023 Innovation &amp; Creativity in Educational Technology	This course covers basic concepts related to the use of computers in education. Students will be introduced to the processes of planning, developing, and evaluating computer-based educational packages.
KMP2033 Islamic Jurisprudence (Daily Worship)	This course provides students with an understanding of the jurisprudence of worship (fiqh ibadah), covering topics such as purification (taharah), prayer, fasting, sacrificial rites (korban), 'aqiqah, and ritual slaughter, including funeral management. Discussions will address the scriptural evidence for these practices, their conditions, implementation, and related matters. Additionally, students will be introduced to contemporary issues concerning worship.
KMP2043 Islamic Theology	This course aims to provide students with comprehensive exposure to Islamic creed (aqidah). Key topics covered include the fundamental concept of Islam as Ad-Din, the definition of aqidah and Islamic creed, the legal evidence related to aqidah, the importance of studying aqidah, and issues that invalidate one's belief. By the end of the course, students will be able to explain and apply the knowledge and skills gained to higher levels of teaching and learning.
KMP2053 Arabic Language Skills	This course introduces students to Arabic terminology commonly used in the fields of Aqidah (creed), Fiqh (jurisprudence), Usul Fiqh (principles of jurisprudence), Akhlak (ethics), and Tasawuf (Sufism). By the end of the course, students will have a deeper understanding of these terms, enabling them to communicate effectively with the community.
YEAR 2 SEMESTER 2
KMP2063 Curriculum, Pedagogy, and Instructional Design	This course introduces students to the field of curriculum development and instructional design. Students will explore various curriculum theories, key factors in curriculum planning, the creation of annual teaching schemes, daily lesson planning, and the criteria necessary for evaluating the effectiveness of a lesson plan. Students will also discuss issues in instructional development and learn models and processes for designing instruction. Additionally, students will practice identifying and selecting appropriate teaching methods and media to develop lesson plans in their respective fields (Islamic Education).
KMP2073 Educational Assessments	This course focuses on the concept of assessment in Islamic Education, the implementation and management of authentic assessments in Islamic Education, analysing standards and constructive teaching assessments, the development of the Test Specification Table (JSU) for Islamic Education, the implementation of assessments in Islamic Education learning, and PAFA evaluation in primary schools.
KMP2083 Quranic Recitation &amp; Memorisation	Memorising and reciting with proper Qira'ah and applying Tajwid rules from the following surahs: Al-Fatihah, Al-Sajadah, Yasin, Al-Waqi'ah, and Al-Mulk. This includes methods for reading and memorising the Quran, fundamental Tajwid rules such as articulation points (makhraj) and letter characteristics, the rules of Nun Sakinah, Tanwin, and Mim Sakinah, various types of Idgham, Idzhar, and Mad, as well as the rules of Waqaf and Ibtida'. The course also introduces Rasm Uthmani, Imlai', the seven modes of Qira'ah (Qira'ah al-Sab'ah), and Quranic recitation sciences (Ilmu Qira'at al-Quran).
KMP2093 Prophetic Biography	This course discusses the biography, life challenges, and the struggles of Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) from the pre-Islamic period until His passing. Several major events in Islamic history will also be covered, such as the Hijrah, economic boycott, Isra and Mi'raj, various battles, the slander of Aisha (Ifk), and the conquest of Mecca (Fathu). In addition to the historical events, the course will explore the Prophet's daily interactions with his companions, the Muslim community, and the multi-religious society during his time in Madinah.

YEAR 3 SEMESTER 1
PBH3013 Human and Organisational Behaviour	This course examines the functions and processes involved in the interaction between cognition, human behaviour, and the work environment. Specifically, it focuses on three key issues in the context of workplace performance and organisational effectiveness: individual and group cognitive processes, individual and group behaviour, as well as work processes, work structure, technology, and innovation.
KMP3023 Co-Curricular and Sports Management in Schools	This course introduces students with the management aspects of co-curricular activities and sports in schools. It covers strategies for planning, organising, and overseeing school programmes and activities focused on co-curricular and sports areas. The co-curricular section includes topics on uniformed bodies, associations, and clubs, while the sports management section covers various sports and athletics.
KMP3033 Islamic Contemporary Thought	This course explores the early development of Islamic thought, examining various schools such as Qadariyah, Jabariyah, Murji'ah, Mu'tazilah, Ahlu Sunnah, Salafism, and Shi'ism, along with philosophical contributions from prominent Islamic scholars. The course also covers contemporary Islamic thought to provide students with a broader understanding.
KMP3043 Teaching Jawi and Calligraphy	This course focuses on the skills students need to master reading and writing in Jawi script. Students will also be trained in Arabic calligraphy, including styles such as Riq'ah, Nasakh, Thuluth, and Diwani. By the end of the course, students will have mastered Jawi writing and developed calligraphy skills, preparing them to become teachers at the secondary school level.
YEAR 3 SEMESTER 2
PBH3023 Human Developmental Psychology	This course provides a systematic approach to studying human developmental psychology. It discusses the dynamics of human development across all stages: prenatal, infancy, early and late childhood, adolescence, early adulthood, middle adulthood, and late adulthood. The discussions on developmental aspects will focus on biological/physical, cognitive, and socio-emotional factors. The course also highlights the application of relevant theories in the workplace and current issues such as comparisons between working and non-working mothers, single parenting, the impact of divorce, and globalisation on family development.
PBH3034 Research Methodology	This course introduces students to the fundamentals of research. It aims to provide essential information on the research process, covering everything from idea formulation to data collection, analysis, and interpretation. Students will acquire the knowledge and skills needed to plan research, apply various research methodologies, and understand how to write and develop research proposals. The course also introduces students to the principles and process of action research.
KMP3073 Ethics &amp; Sufism	This course introduces students to the practice of the concepts of fear (khauf) and hope (raja') in the context of ethics and Sufism, as practiced by the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH). Additionally, the course explains the importance of the concept of love (mahabbah) and its relation to the practice of fear and hope in daily life, emphasising the responsibilities of a Muslim towards both individuals and society.
KMP3083 Comparative Fiqh	This course aims to broaden students' knowledge of the diverse legal rulings in Islam, based on the perspectives of the recognised scholars of Ahli Sunnah Wal Jamaah. Additionally, students will learn the importance of understanding Islamic knowledge in a collective and comprehensive manner, without limiting themselves to a single school of thought, as differences in opinion among scholars are considered a blessing for the Muslim community. Contemporary issues in Malaysia will be introduced as starting points for debate and discussion.

YEAR 4 SEMESTER 1
KMP4013 Guidance &amp; Counseling	This course provides students with an introduction to guidance and counseling services. It covers the background of these services in Malaysia and highlights the importance of counseling in schools and society today. The course also defines guidance and counseling, explains school-based counseling services, and discusses the characteristics and ethics of counseling. Teaching methods include lectures, discussions, and case study development.
KMP4023 School Orientation	School orientation is a course under the professional practice component, offering an introduction and early exposure to students about school life and operations from a teacher's perspective. This course covers areas such as understanding schools as educational institutions, the role of teachers in classrooms through observation, document analysis, reflection, and interaction with teachers and the school community. Through school orientation, students will gain an understanding of school management systems, student behaviour, classroom management, and the real duties of a teacher.
KMP4033 School Leadership &amp; Management	This course provides students with an understanding of leadership and management in schools, including classroom management. It focuses on three main areas: school leadership, school administration, and classroom management. In the leadership component, students will explore various leadership styles, such as instructional leadership. The school management section allows students to discuss yearly, monthly, and daily planning to ensure smooth school operations throughout the academic year. The classroom management section will focus on strategies to create a positive learning environment and address student behaviour and discipline issues.
KMP4043 Micro-Teaching	Students will have the opportunity to develop and apply approaches, methods, and techniques learned during micro-teaching sessions. This course will cover the skills needed to start a teaching session and set induction, including concepts, components, principles, importance, effects on teaching and learning, arising issues and ways to resolve them, as well as the use of technology in micro-teaching.
YEAR 4 SEMESTER 2
KMP4058 Teaching Practicum	This course represents the pinnacle of a student's journey toward becoming an educator. The teaching practicum allows students to apply the knowledge and skills they've learned in actual school and classroom environments. With guidance from lecturers and mentor teachers, students assess their strengths and areas for improvement, taking steps to enhance their knowledge and skills to become outstanding, innovative, and visionary educators. The course evaluation focuses on the effectiveness of lesson planning, the suitability of teaching methods, innovation in pedagogy, subject matter application, classroom management, and project completion.
KMP4063 Final Year Project	This course is a training in research and the writing of an academic project paper on Islamic studies. The focus is on exploring the writing process based on Islamic studies research methodology. It covers aspects such as defining the topic, setting objectives, identifying research problems, reviewing the literature, collecting and interpreting data, and writing a report under the supervision of a mentor.

PLAGIARISM PROHIBITION

1. It is an offence to plagiarise any forms of work and/or ideas that are not your own. Plagiarism includes:
  - i. the act of copying an idea, writing, data, or creation of others and claiming that the idea, writing, data or creation is your own; or
  - ii. the attempt to approve an idea, writing or invention from a different source.
2. Without prejudice to the generality of sub rule 2, a student plagiarises when he/she:
  - i. publishes, with oneself as the author of an abstract, scientific, or academic paper, or books which are holistically or partly written by others; or
  - ii. incorporates oneself or allows oneself to be made a co-author of an abstract, article, scientific or academic paper or book, when one has not made any written contribution to the abstract, article, scientific or academic paper or book; or
  - iii. forces another person to include one's name in the list of researchers for a specific research project or as a co-author when one did not make any contribution which may qualify him or her as a researcher or co-author; or
  - iv. cites data that is the result of academic research carried out by someone else, such as laboratory findings or results of field work, whether published or not, and combining the data as part of own academic research without giving acknowledgment to the original source; or
  - v. uses research data obtained through collaboration with several other people, regardless of whether the person is a staff or a University student as part of a different academic research; or for publishing using one's own name as a sole author, without obtaining consent from other fellow researchers before starting one's personal research or before publishing the data; or
  - vi. copies an idea or creation that is stored in any form, whether written, printed, or made available in electronic form, or in the form of slides, or in any forms of teaching or research instruments, or in any other forms, and declares directly or indirectly that he or she is the creator of those ideas; or
  - vii. translates the writing or creation of others from one language to another whether in whole or partial, and then submits the translation in any form or manner as one's own writing or creation; or
  - viii. cites ideas from others and make some modifications to the writings and creations without reference to the original sources and paraphrasing it in such manner as if one is the creator of such ideas.

*Subject to changes or amendments from time to time

MECHANISM FOR MEASURING THE ACHIEVEMENT OF LEARNING OUTCOME

The assessment of learning outcomes is based on the methods used by existing undergraduate programmes and is subject to the undergraduate study regulations at UNIMAS. Emphasis is placed on continuous assessment throughout the semester, which includes written exams (mid-semester and final), quizzes, assignments, case studies, and in-class oral presentations. The grading system for each course is also based on the system used by existing undergraduate programmes at UNIMAS, as follows:

Grade	Score Range	Grade Point	Achievement Standards Core Course/ Generic/ Elective
A	80-100	4.00	Excellent
A-	75-79	3.67
B+	70-74	3.33	Credit
B	65-69	3.00
B-	60-64	2.67	Good Pass
C+	55-59	2.33
C	50-54	2.00
C-	45-49	1.67	Pass
D	40-44	1.00	Fail
F	<40	0.00

ASSESSMENT RESULTS

A student's achievement for a given semester is represented by the Grade Point Average (GPA). The overall achievement of a student in a programme is indicated by the Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA). The method for calculating the GPA and CGPA is as follows:

$$\text{Grade Point Average (GPA)} = \frac{\text{Total Grade Points for the semester}}{\text{Total Credits for all courses in the semester}}$$

Whereby:

Total Grade Value = Grade Value x Course Credit

$$\text{Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA)} = \frac{\text{Total Grade Points accumulated to date}}{\text{Total Credits taken to date}}$$

Examples for GPA and CGPA calculation

1. Grade Point Average (GPA) Calculation

Semester 1

Course code	Credit	Grade	Grade Point	Total Grade Point
EBM1013	3	B+	3.33	9.99
EBQ1013	3	B	3.00	9.00
EBF1013	3	A-	3.67	11.01
SSX0012	2	A	4.00	8.00
Grand total	11			38.00

$$\begin{aligned}\text{GPA} &= \frac{38.00}{11} \\ &= 3.45\end{aligned}$$

2. Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) Calculation

Semester 2

Course code	Credit	Grade	Grade Point	Total Grade Point
EBF1023	3	B	3.00	9.00
EBQ1023	3	B-	2.67	8.01
PBF1012	2	A	4.00	8.00
SSX0022	2	A	4.00	8.00
Grand total	10			33.01

$$\begin{aligned}\text{CGPA} &= \frac{38.00 + 33.01}{11 + 10} \\ &= \frac{71.01}{21} \\ &= 3.38\end{aligned}$$

Special Re-Examination

Special Re-Examination (PUK) is a special examination of a failed course in the last year of study and is allowed to be taken a maximum of two (2) courses per semester for graduation purposes. However, PUK is not allowed to be taken for industrial training courses and final year projects.

The eligible students must submit an application to the Dean of the Faculty that are offering the course by accompanying payment of the set fee per credit.

The student's application for a special re-examination is subjected to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty except for the following students:

- (a) Students who have been blocked to sit for the final examination; or
- (b) absent during the final examination; or
- (c) commits an academic offense during the final examination.

Special Re-Examination (PUK) is equivalent to the topic of the final examination of the semester. Overall scores will include PUK and continuous assessment. The eligible students may apply via <https://inafs.aa.unimas.my>

Deferment of Examination

Students who are ill or face other problems during the examination period, may apply to the faculty to postpone the examination. The application shall be made no later than forty-eight (48) hours after the assessment is held.

Application to postpone the examination for health reasons should be accompanied by a medical certificate from a Government Doctor, a University Medical Officer or a University Panel Doctor only. Any other certificate that is not from a University Panel Doctor must be certified by the University Panel Doctor. Application for other reasons may be considered at the Faculty's discretion. Replacement examinations can be arranged based on merit of certain cases.

CODE OF ETHICS: SEXUAL HARASSMENT

Sexual harassment refers to any unwanted, unwelcome, and disturbing behaviour of a sexual nature that causes discomfort, whether it is physical, verbal, non-verbal, visual, or psychological:

- i. which, for reasonable reasons, is perceived by the complainant as a sexual condition imposed on their employment or education, or;
- ii. which, for reasonable reasons, can be perceived by the complainant as a violation of dignity, or as degrading or threatening, but has no direct relation to their employment or education; and
- iii. can occur once or repeatedly.

Sexual harassment in this context is classified as follows:

- i. Quid pro quo sexual harassment
Refers to sexual harassment involving requests for sexual favors, or verbal, physical, or written communication of a sexual nature that directly impacts the employment status of staff or the learning experience of the student.
- ii. Sexual harassment that threatens the personal well-being of UNIMAS staff and students
Refers to sexual behaviour that is perceived by the complainant as threatening, intimidating, or degrading, but is not directly related to employment or educational benefits.
- iii. Sexual harassment outside the university campus that arises from relationships and responsibilities related to employment and learning at the university
Such sexual harassment situations may occur in (but are not limited to) the following contexts:
  - o Social events related to official university duties;
  - o While staff are carrying out their duties or students are following official university assignments;
  - o Conferences or training sessions related to employment and educational purposes;
  - o During travel related to official university duties; and
  - o Through phone and electronic media.

CONDUCT, CONDITION, OR DEEDS INCLUDED IN SEXUAL HARASSMENT

The types of behaviours, conditions, or actions that may constitute sexual harassment include, but are not limited to, the following:

i. Physical Harassment

Harassment in the form of sexual physical contact, such as approaching others too closely, touching, hugging, patting, rubbing, pinching, kissing, licking, or groping, that makes the complainant feel offended, humiliated, or threatened.

ii. Verbal Harassment

This type of harassment is evident in the use of obscene language through conversations, storytelling, joking, making noises, providing criticism, comments, compliments, or asking sexually suggestive questions about appearance, clothing, behaviour, body, or sexual activities, which makes someone feel offended, humiliated, or reluctant to interact with the concerned official.

iii. Non-verbal (Gesture) Harassment

This form of harassment is exhibited through the attitudes or actions of an official that convey or imply sexual desires, such as leering, flirting, staring, peeping, licking lips, or using other suggestive gestures.

iv. Visual Harassment

This includes sending notes, letters, emails, text messages (SMS), multimedia messages (MMS), images (photos), posters, objects, or reading materials of a sexual nature distributed through electronic media, blogs, vlogs, or social media platforms like Facebook, WhatsApp, Twitter, or any application that allows materials to be publicly displayed and shared, or through the use of any media, electronic, or communication equipment to the complainant, causing them to feel offended, humiliated, or threatened.

v. Psychological Harassment

Actions involving attempts to make sexual advances, pressure, threaten, or coerce the complainant to fulfill the sexual desires of the official, whether through letters, phone calls, emails, or any form of communication equipment, causing emotional and mental stress to the complainant, also constitute sexual harassment.

THE ACADEMIC ADVISORY SYSTEM

UNIMAS always prioritises academic excellence and the personal development of each student. One approach that can help achieve this goal is by establishing a two-way relationship between students and lecturers in each faculty through the Academic Advisory system. Through this system, students receive guidance and advice from lecturers (academic advisors) in various aspects, especially those related to academic affairs. This system also pays attention to other guidance that students may need, not only as students, but also as young adults dealing with psychological and identity changes. Academic Advisors play an important role in guiding and advising students as well as being good role models in various aspects. The effectiveness of this system greatly depends on the commitment and cooperation between both parties.

Through this system, students receive guidance and advice related to academic affairs. Academic Advisors can also identify challenges that may contribute to academic difficulties and refer students to specific experts who can help resolve these issues.

An Academic Advisor can assist students in planning their study schedules, selecting courses, understanding the curriculum, semester system, registration system, examination regulations, and course exemptions. Students can make appointments with their respective Academic Advisors via email or phone (please refer to the email addresses and phone numbers on pages 8-19).

Students are encouraged to meet directly with their Academic Advisors to receive guidance and advice on academic affairs and related issues. Appointments can be made with the Academic Advisor according to the agreed-upon time.

ARTICULATION REGULATIONS, CREDIT TRANSFERS, AND EXEMPTIONS

Credit transfer is subject to the approval of FELC. The application for credit transfer is approved based on the following:

- a. For current UNIMAS students:
  - i. Students who wish to change their study programme in UNIMAS.
  - ii. Students who are undergoing mobility programme.
- b. For students from other higher learning institutions:
  - i. Students from other higher learning institutions at the same level of study who wish to further their studies in the same programme in UNIMAS.
  - ii. Students from other higher learning institutions at the same level of study who wish to further their studies in a different programme in UNIMAS.

For the application of credit transfer, the following are the general requirements:

- a. The minimum passing grade for the affected course is a C;
- b. The course content must be aligned at 80% or more;
- c. The content of courses allowed for alignment should not exceed two (2) courses if combined, and the total credits should not be less than the credit value of the course being aligned;
- d. The results used for credit transfer must be within the last five (5) years;
- e. The credit value of the course from the previous programme must be equal to or greater than the credit value of the course in the current programme;
- f. The course applied for grade transfer must be from a programme that has received Accreditation Certification;
- g. For University Elective Courses, grade transfer will only be considered if the course is a Faculty Elective; and
- h. Students who transfer to UNIMAS must complete at least two (2) semesters of study before application for grade transfer is allowed. However, this condition does not apply to current students who change programmes/faculties.
- i. There is no set limit for grade transfer, except for academic programmes recognised by professional bodies, where the grade transfer limit is subject to the standards set by the respective professional bodies.
- j. The grade obtained for the previous course is assigned to the course approved for grade transfer. The grade is then used for the calculation of the student's GPA in subsequent studies.
- k. Grade and credit transfer are NOT ALLOWED for cases where students are dismissed from their studies due to academic failure and later resume studies in a different programme.

STUDENT MOBILITY PROGRAMMES

PROGRAM MOBILITI PELAJAR STUDENT MOBILITY PROGRAMME

Provide opportunities to UNIMAS students to pursue learning as well as gaining experience abroad while at the same time exposing them to different socio-cultural experiences and environments.

Mengembangkan wawasan pelajar dengan memberi peluang untuk menunjukkan bakat, menetengahkan cara pemikiran serta meningkatkan keyakinan diri.

Develop student insights by giving opportunities to showcase their talent, highlighting the way of thinking and improving self-esteem.

Menggalakkan penglibatan pelajar UNIMAS dalam sistem pengajian tinggi yang global, kompetitif dan mencabar.

Encourage the involvement of UNIMAS students in a global, competitive and challenging higher education system.

Program Mobiliti Berkredit dan Tanpa Kredit untuk program mobiliti secara outbound (ke luar negara) dan terbuka kepada pelajar prasiswazah dan siswazah.

The credited and non-credited Mobility Program are for outbound (overseas) programs and are eligible for both undergraduate and graduate students.

STUDENT MOBILITY PROGRAMMES AT FELC

FELC students have the opportunity to participate in various Student Mobility Programmes organised by the faculty in collaboration with the university's strategic partners from various countries around the world. Two popular Student Mobility Programmes are International Intercultural Expedition Camp (IIEC) and EduTour.

International Intercultural Expedition Camp (IIEC)

This programme was introduced in 2019 and has received encouraging response from more than 100 students from UNIMAS, Thailand, Laos, Indonesia, Brunei, and Yemen.

Among the objectives of IIEC are:

- To forge good relationships between UNIMAS students and students from university's strategic partners in the Asian region through team building activities and visits to interesting places around Kuching
- To promote understanding and mutual respect among students about cultural diversity, values, language, customs, and tradition of different ethnic groups in Sarawak and vice-versa.

EduTour

EduTour is a student mobility programme that aims to enhance the learning experience for both Utsunomiya University, Japan and UNIMAS students. The EduTour programme was successfully conducted for three consecutive years - 2018, 2019 and 2020 in the UNIMAS campus. However, the COVID-19 pandemic nearly hindered the programme from continuing for the fourth time. The programme was given a new life in a new normal environment where it was conducted fully online and named e-EduTour 2021. UNIMAS students get to participate in this programme by becoming buddies to the Japanese students.

Among the objectives of the programme are:

- To provide meaningful and memorable university learning experience for both UNIMAS and the partner university students.
- To enable participants to apply the knowledge learnt in their courses as well as exchange information about their cultures, traditions, cuisines, songs, and dances through the activities conducted throughout the programme.
